PT. MAINE POISON ALMOST FATAL TO THREE IN FAMILY

Ate Veal Steak Last Night and
Were in Serious Condition.

Physician Works Heroically
to Save Them.

ALL ARE NOW OUT OF DANGER.

Three people had a narrow escape from death late yesterday afternoon as a result of ptomaine poisoning, and for several hours they were in a critical condition. Veal steak served for dinner yesterday at the home of Mrs. P. H. Cox, 224 Adams street, wife of the well known marine engineer, is thought to have been the cause of the illness. Mrs. Cox, Jaunita Cox, her twenty-month-old daughter, and Miss Eunice Rigor were ill, and not until this morning were they entirely out of danger.

The meat was served yesterday at dinner, and yesterday afternoon all the members of the family that partook of the dinner became ill simultaneously. Dr. B. A. Washburn was called, and he recognized symptoms of severe cases of ptomaine poisoning. Antidotes were administered, but it required heroic work to save the family.

Mrs. Cox was not so seriously ill as the other two, and last night at 7 o'clock she rallied sufficiently to attend her child. Several times the life of the baby was despaired of, and she was sick all night. Miss Rigor was also violently ill, and was not able to leave her bed until today. Although out of danger today, the members of the family are weak.

They say that the veal steak was the cause of the illness, although other people bought meat from the same place and they were not affected.

Suit Against Coal Co.

Suit to recover $1,322.63, alleged due on account, was filed in circuit court today by the Carbondale Coal & Coke company against F. S. Johnston doing business as Johnston Fuel company. An attachment was granted on the coal agency. The company is located at Fourteenth and Tennessee streets. Recently the safe of the company was robbed of $1,200.

CHILDREN WHO GAVE TO RIVERSIDE HOSPITAL.

The children, who contributed donations for the charity patients at Riverside hospital, are: Katherine Williamson, Charles Jennings, Waddie Lang, Mary Lee Walker, LaVerne Purcell, Barbara Nell Paxton, Elsie Voris, Helen Pulliam, Kenneth Gardner, Mary Smith, and Ione Rose.

CASEY AND HIS WIFE BACK FROM STORMY VOYAGE.

John P. Casey and wife, who reside at 316 George street, "came back" late yesterday afternoon and were surprised to find their friends in grief over their supposed death by drowning in the Ohio river during the storm Sunday. After spending Sunday fishing in the Illinois lakes, Casey and his wife started across the river in their skiff, but before getting far from bank, the wind drove them back. Finding that it would be impossible to make the trip, they remained in Illinois until yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock. When they reached the Kentucky side they were surprised to learn that friends were on the opposite side searching for them.

TWELVE RECRUITS FOR UNITED STATES ARMY

The last of the nine applicants to be accepted at the local recruiting station here this month was Thomas W. Murphy, 21 years old, son of the Rev. Hodge Murphy, of Sheridan, whose charge is at the M. E. church, south, at Rushville, Ill. Murphy, who applied yesterday to Sergeant C. A. Blake and was accepted this morning by Capt. George W. Kirkpatrick, of Evansville. He is a brother of Charles Murphy, who enlisted here one year ago and who is stationed in the coast artillery at Fort Caswell, N. C., one of the most desirable posts in the United States. Thomas Murphy goes into coast artillery service also and is a fine specimen of manhood. He left today for Jefferson Barracks, St. Louis, for his assignment. Today closes a good month for the local station. Out of 24 applicants 9 were accepted and all were excellent types of soldiers.

House of Governors Convened At Frankfort ---Dr. Woodrow Wilson Sounds Keynote in His Address

When Governor of Ohio Meets
Governor of New Jersey
Democrats Take Notice---at Louisville Tomorrow.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 29.—The governor of Ohio said to the new governor of New Jersey: "I am very glad to meet you, Doctor." And, as they greeted each other, the hopeful Democracy of Frankfort, looking on, professed to see a lifeline of the next candidate for president and for vice president. Judson Harmon and Woodrow Wilson, and 23 other chief executives opened their conference here today. Only 19 governors are missing.

Woodrow Wilson Makes Speech.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 29. (Special.)—With 24 governors present, the governors' conference was called to order here at noon. After luncheon at Colonel E. H. Taylor's the conference again convened. Governor Willson and Mayor Polsgrove welcomed the guests and Dr. Woodrow Wilson, of New Jersey, made the keynote speech, after that Governor Pothair, of Rhode Island, had responded to the addresses of welcome.

The governors' reception will take place tonight and the guests will go to Louisville tomorrow.

An unique feature of the reception to the governors in Frankfort tonight will be the presence of the former governors of Kentucky. All have been invited to attend and the meeting is expected to be in the nature of a reunion. The list of former governors of Kentucky includes J. C. W. Beckham, United States Senator William O. Bradley, former United States Senator James B. McCreary, General Simon Bolivar Buckner and J. Proctor Knott. Governor Beckham is still a young man and is a resident of Frankfort. Senator McCreary lives at Richmond and is still hale and hearty. Senator Bradley is of course still in the ring. General Buckner is not far from 90 years of age, but will be present to greet the visiting governors. He will make the trip to Frankfort from his home in Hart county. Former Governor J. Proctor Knott, who resides at Lebanon, in Marion county, is in feeble health and will not be able to accept the invitation extended to him. Mrs. Luke P. Blackburn, the widow of the late Governor Luke P. Blackburn has also been invited to attend the governors' conference and has accepted the invitation.

Roosevelt's New Nationalism was swayed by Governor-elect Wilson, of New Jersey, when in an address he said: "We favor the exercise of federal power wherever necessary for the common benefits. We do not believe the invention of new federal powers is either necessary or desirable."

President Mooted Attends.

Attorney J. D. Mooted, president of the Kentucky State Bar association, probably will leave tonight for Louisville to attend the meeting of governors tomorrow. The meeting is being held in Frankfort today and will adjourn to meet in Louisville tomorrow.

According to witnesses who were "victims" to baptismal exercises conducted at the horse trough at the rear of the stable, they were challenged and invited to join the band they received a ducking or a sprinkling.

GULF-TO-SOUND IS BURLINGTON SYSTEM'S PLAN

Connection at Paducah Becomes Important Link in Trade.

Seattle to New Orleans and Atlantic Ports.

VIA BRIDGE AT METROPOLIS.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 29.—Vast commercial possibilities are seen in the opening by two railroads of new and shorter avenues between the north and west and the southeast country lying between the Mississippi river, the Ohio and the Atlantic and the Gulf of Mexico. The Burlington has opened a new southern route through its Herrin-Metropolis line in Illinois connecting at the Ohio river with the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis at Paducah. The Eastern Illinois has also established a new fast freight service in connection with the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis and Louisville & Nashville system. Until further disposition is made, the Burlington will route its freight to the south via seven miles of the Illinois Central's tracks to Brookport, on the Illinois side of the Ohio river, across from Paducah, Ky., thence across the river by car ferry until a new bridge at that point is erected.

This new route connects with all the principal lines traversing the south. Time is clipped by the new Eastern Illinois train, which will maintain a Chicago-Atlanta schedule of forty-three and a half hours.

Gulf-to-Sound Route.

Denver, Col., Nov. 29.—Burlington officials have figured out the gulf-to-sound route and when all connections are completed it will be one of the most important cotton-carrying routes in the world. In Colorado, south of Denver, the route traverses the Longmont-Burns Junction branch Colorado and Southern, from Longmont to Fort Collins and Wellington, thence over the new line of the C. and S., which is to be built from Wellington to Cheyenne at once. It will be a distance of thirty miles and must be completed by July 31. North of Cheyenne the Colorado and Southern is to be used connecting with the Chicago and Northwestern at the Powder river. From Thermopolis to the Powder the Burlington is now building a branch to be finished in October, 1911.

The line from Thermopolis to Laurel is being shortened and from Laurel the Northern Pacific will carry the transcontinental goods to Seattle. The Colorado and Southern, with its Texas lines, will be used south of Denver. From Seattle to the Orient the Hill steamship lines will be used.

ISLAND CREEK'S BRIDGE PLANNED

CITY ENGINEER WRITES EX-PERT TO BEGIN WORK ON SPECIFICATIONS.

Another step in the building of the proposed bridge over Island creek was taken today by the city when City Engineer L. A. Washington wrote to Wilbur J. Watson, the special bridge engineer of Cleveland, who was here a few weeks ago, instructing him to proceed with the plans for the public bridge, which it is estimated will cost between $30,000 and $40,000.

Since the general council has concurred in the report of the bridge committee in refusing the building of a bridge jointly with the Paducah Traction company, City Engineer Washington has directed his attention to the $40,000 structure suggested by Mr. Watson. The bridge for vehicles and pedestrians is to be about 300 feet in length and 40 feet in width. It will have a 28-foot roadway and six-foot sidewalk on either side. The bridge is to be the same type of bridge as the first suggested, being of reinforced concrete with no steel work exposed.

As soon as Mr. Watson finishes the drawings the blue prints will be sent here and the general council will be ready to let the contract. It is believed that the contract will be awarded in January when the price of cement is much cheaper. With that off the city's hands the work will be up to the contractor.

ROUSTABOUT RUNS AMUCK AND JUMPS INTO COLD RIVER

Alleged to Have Robbed and Shot Comrade and Fired at Police.

Ernest Phillips Takes to Life
Preserver.

POLICE FOLLOW IN A SKIFF.

Ernest Phillips, a desperate negro, 22 years old, of Clarksville, Tenn., was pulled from the Tennessee river at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon by Patrolman Walter England and two volunteers after it is alleged he had robbed John Taylor, colored, 26, of Perryville, Tenn., of $3, shot him and engaged in a pistol duel with Patrolman Henley Franklin from the fleet of the West Kentucky Coal company at the foot of Tennessee street.

He was looked up on two charges of malicious shooting with intent to kill. His two revolvers sunk.

Taylor, the victim, was struck in the left thigh and a second bullet nipped the lobe of his left ear. He is not seriously hurt.

Between 15 and 20 shots were fired in the roundup. According to Taylor, Phillips knocked him in the head with the butt-end of his revolver, at the foot of Ohio street, took his money and then opened fire. Taylor ran but escaped three additional shots.

The police were notified and Patrolmen Henley Franklin and Walter England with Fire Chief James Wood hailed a taxiab and were driven at full speed to the scene.

In the meantime Phillips who was armed with two revolvers had run to the foot of the N. C. & St. L. railroad incline between Norton and Tennessee streets and was unfazed by a skiff when the officers jumped from the cab and gave pursuit. Phillips jumped into the skiff and pulled for the fleet of barges, several yards out and fired one shot at Patrolman Franklin, who returned fire. Phillips jumped to the towboat Reaper, darted across the deck and hid behind the gunwale of the towboat Gleaner. He raised both weapons and fired at Patrolman Franklin, who was lucky again and escaped being struck. Patrolman Franklin forged ahead and Phillips, seeing he was cornered, hurdled over several barges, grabbed a life preserver and jumped into the river, swimming out stream as fast as he could. His two revolvers were lost in the river.

Patrolmen Franklin and England continued firing and peppered the water where the negro's head was protruding, but failed to hit him. Securing a skiff, Patrolman England, enlisted the services of two laborers and rowed out to Phillips, who was more than willing to surrender. Half drowned and chilled he was pulled from the icy water and conveyed to the bank and afterwards transferred to the city lockup. He is charged with malicious shooting and wounding with intent to kill and malicious shooting without wounding with intent to kill.

Taylor was hauled to the police station in the patrol wagon and his wounds dressed by City Physician W. J. Bass. Both negroes are roustabouts on the steamer Clyde, which arrived this morning from Waterloo, Ala. It is thought they had some difficulty up the Tennessee river. Phillips had a hard chill in jail.

U. P. Man Passes Through.
On a special train M. L. Schieff, a director of the Union Pacific railroad, in private car, No. 916, passed through Paducah this morning enroute from New York to New Orleans. At Louisville the private car of Mr. A. E. Cliff, superintendent of southern lines of the Illinois Central, was connected to the train.

The burner body or gallery cannot become wedged and can be unscrewed in an instant for reworking. ## FUGITIVE SUES OLD NEIGHBORS

J. T. VAN HOOSER ASKS FOR $30,000 DAMAGES.

Formerly Resided In Christian County—Driven Out by Night Riders.

CASE IN THE FEDERAL COURT

Owensboro, Ky., Nov. 29.—The big damage case of J. F. Van Hooser, formerly of Christian county, but now of Cookeville, Tenn., against A. A. Robinson, Bud Duke, Orville Cook, E. G. Robinson, Westley Meacham, George Atkinson, Bernard Johnson, George Barnes, John G. Henderson, Dave Smith, William Harrison, James Corley, Melrose McKinney, Walter Martin, Oscar Nelson, Robert Overton, George Grace, John T. Johnson and Ephraim Head, is now on trial in the United States court. All the defendants reside in Christian county, with the exception of John T. Johnson and Ephraim Head, who are residents of Todd county, and are present in court.

The case is one of the most important that has been tried in the federal court in Owensboro in years. Van Hooser and his wife and three children formerly resided in Christian county, in what is known as the Dark Tobacco district. Some time during the year 1908, societies were organized in that county and certain parts of Tennessee known as the "Farmers Union," "Equity Societies," and "The Silent Brigade," and finally according to the plaintiff's petition, it terminated in what was afterwards known as night riders.

The petition says that on or about December 20, 1908, the plaintiff, who then resided on his farm in Christian county, and had raised a fine crop of tobacco, and because he would not join the "Silent Brigade," or "Night Riders," and would not take the oaths of these organizations, was threatened with guns, pistols and other weapons by the defendants and that they conspired and banded together, and with force did assault, beat and bruise this plaintiff and did so terrorize his wife and three children that he was forced to leave his farm and abandon his home, and on account of such threats he has been compelled to remain away. He claims that he has been damaged in the sum of $30,000, for which sum he asks the jury to award him damages.

Van Hooser is present in court with his wife and children, and is being represented by George W. Jolly of this city, and M. J. Adcock of Cookeville, Tenn. The defendants' attorneys are R. A. Miller of this city, Judge W. T. Fowler, John C. Duffy and Judge C. O. Prouse of Hopkinsville. Miss Rogers of Paris, Ky., is doing the stenographic work in the case.

Louisville, Nov. 29.—The receipts of hogs were 1,441 head, as compared with 7,246 a year ago. Owing to the scant supply and a good healthy demand, the trade opened early at an advance of 15c on all grades, and ruled active. Selected hogs, all weights, selling at $7.15, with the roughs out at $6.50 down. The pens were well cleared early in the day and the market closed steady or firm.

The receipts of cattle were 1,284 head, as against 2,362 a year ago and 1,902 two years ago. There was a fairly good crowd of buyers on the yards. The market opened active on choice hands, butcher cattle everything of that description changing hands readily at 10 to 15c better prices while the medium and inferior kinds were neglected and slow sale. Heavy butcher steers, both of medium and choice quality, were very dull and draggy, hard to move at barely steady prices. Good demand for the best feeders and stockers, as well as strong weight sloop steers; common trashy stock cattle and light undesirable sloppers slow. Bulls steady; canners dull. Milch cows firm. Heavy steer trade very dull. Pens fairly well cleared.

ANNOUNCEMENT!

We Have Taken the Exclusive Agency for the World Famous Guaranteed Shoes

From now on the men of this town will have an opportunity to buy guaranteed shoes. We have made it possible by taking the agency for Desnoyers' Six Months' Shoes—the first and only shoes ever sold under a written guaranty.

The Only Guaranteed Shoes on Earth

Never before has it been possible to buy guaranteed shoes, because never before have guaranteed shoes been made. Heretofore it has been absolutely impossible for manufacturers to make a shoe good enough to guarantee. Their enormous selling expense prevented it. High salaried traveling men, big hotel bills, etc., cost shoe manufacturers over Five Million Dollars a year.

But the Desnoyers Shoe Co. did away with traveling men and their big expenses. They sell direct to dealers by letter, and put the thousands of dollars saved into better leather and other materials. Thus they can afford to make a shoe that's far superior to others and good enough to guarantee.

Desnoyers "Six Months" Shoes

GUARANTEED TO GIVE FULL SIX MONTHS' WEAR

These shoes will be a revelation to the people of this town. They are marvels of beauty, style and shape. Never before have you seen such leather and such wearing qualities.

Here's the Guarantee

If either the soles or uppers wear out within four months we agree to furnish a new pair of shoes entirely free of charge. If either the soles or uppers wear out during the fifth month we agree to refund $2.00 in cash. If either the soles or uppers wear out during the sixth month we agree to refund $1.00 in cash. In other words, if these shoes should not give full six months' wear we refund more than the proportion they fall short.

Best Leather in the World

The manufacturers of the "Six Months" Shoes send way to Switzerland and France for the hides from which they make these shoes.

The Swiss soles are tanned from Switzerland hides, which are the toughest and finest hides for sole leather produced anywhere in the world, owing to Switzerland's high altitude and the extreme care with which the Swiss stock is raised. It is protected from all weather conditions and kept clean and healthy.

The Paris Veal hides used for the uppers in "Six Months" Shoes are extremely tough, yet closer fibred, softer and more flexible than the hides grown in this country.

The cost of importing these foreign hides makes it absolutely impossible to use them in moderate-priced shoes selling under the old system.

Flexible and Waterproof

Not being satisfied with merely the best sole leather in the world, the makers of "Six Months" Shoes tan all their sole leather by a secret process which makes it remarkably flexible and entirely waterproof.

Best Looking and Best Wearing Shoes Made

"Six Months" Shoes are wonderful in appearance as well as in wearing qualities. They combine style, finish and quality in a degree never before equaled in a shoe selling at anywhere near the same price.

A Quality Shoe Clear Through

"Six Months" Shoes are made with sole leather box toes to give extra strength at the tip. Army duck lining is used, which costs twice as much as ordinary lining, but it is the strongest and smoothest lining made.

The uppers are stitched together by lock-stitch machines using the very highest grade silk thread. Nothing but the best Irish Linen thread is used in sewing the soles. These methods all cost more, but they make the shoes last much longer.

We "Make Good" the Guarantee

You don't have to send your shoes to the factory to be re-deemed or to secure the refund. We make good the guaranty and the manufacturer pays us. You have no dealings whatever with strangers.

You don't risk one cent when you buy "Six Months" Shoes. You know you will have six months' wear for your $4.00 or the equivalent of that in dollars and cents.

A STYLE FOR EVERY PURPOSE

Desnoyers "Six Months" Shoes are made in the very latest styles for every purpose. There are work shoes, business shoes and dress shoes. And the best styles of each to choose from. You can't lose on a pair, so why hesitate? Call now while our stock is complete.

In a modern product. From time immemorial sage and sulphur have been used for the hair and scalp. Almost every one knows the value of such a combination for darkening the hair and making it grow. In olden times the only way to get a hair tonic of this sort was to brew it in the home fireplace, a method which was troublesome and not always satisfactory. Nowadays almost every up-to-date druggist can supply his patrons with a ready to use product, skillfully compounded in perfectly equipped laboratories. Such a preparation is Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, which is sold by all leading druggists for 50c. and $1.00 a bottle, or which is sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

TARIFF REVISION IS UP TO DEMOCRATS

TAFT WAITS ON TARIFF BOARD FOR RECOMMENDATIONS.

Success of Coming Session Depends on President—Feared Little Will Be Done.

HE INSISTS ON HIS PROGRAM.

Washington, Nov. 29.—When congress meets a week from today it will have just three months in which to perform whatever may be the demands of a Republican administration. After that the fate of the Tariff legislative program will depend upon the will of the Democratic house and a Republican senate, a condition which will continue until the end of President Taft's present term of office.

Confronted with a situation strewn with confusion, the success or failure of the approaching short session of the Sixty-first congress is believed to rest with the character of the executive message to be sent to the legislative bodies, according to Republican party leaders who are now in the city. Many of the regular Republicans who were defeated in the recent elections are not expected to carry with the best of grace the blow so harshly administered, and this fact of itself cuts out for the president a task offering difficulties far more complexing than any that have been presented to an executive within a score of years.

Will Await Next Session.

Realizing that he will be criticised if he fails to demand of congress further revision of the tariff, especially of the wool and woolen schedule—and fully cognizant of the fact that the prospects would be all against the success of such a program if submitted, the president, it is said, has not made up his mind definitely what his course will be.

The chances are that he will not insist upon action during the approaching session, but that he will offer to the Democratic house and the Republican senate a year hence a program for tariff revision which will be bolstered up with facts and figures gathered in the meantime by the tariff board.

Out of the whole membership of congress comparatively few have reached the city, and there has been little opportunity for exchange of views as to what should be done during the remainder of the present congress. So far as there has been expression, the predictions of congressmen are against any extended program.

Insists on Program.

Nevertheless, the administration is manifesting a desire to utilize the time to the best advantage in carrying out the plans formulated before the change in the political complexion of the country had taken place, for, gratifying as was the record of the last session from a party point of view, President Taft finds his demands for legislation still incomplete.

Personally, the president has made it clear to his callers that he does not propose to withdraw any part of his program, although compelled to alter his plans somewhat just because the Democrats are about to come into control of the house of representatives. The short time that remains of Republican majorities in both branches of the national legislature is used by the president as an argument for pressing forward.

Pass Appropriation Bills.

Within the short session which begins next week, fourteen regular appropriation bills, carrying an aggregate of a billion dollars or more, must be passed. Otherwise there will be necessity for an extra session next spring. The result of such a session would be to bring the Democrats face to face with the necessity of doing something nine months in advance of the time they would ordinarily be called upon to assume responsibility. For many reasons neither Democrats nor Republicans want to precipitate this situation and it will be avoided if possible. So far as appropriation bills are concerned it is not believed there will be lack of co-operation to facilitate their passage.

Leaving the appropriation bills out of consideration, the Democrats are disposed to take the broad position that legislation of a general character should be postponed until they come into the degree of power that has been conferred upon them. Contending that the last election was an expression of the popular will, they urge that it should be heeded to the extent of permitting the Democracy to take the initiative in whatever new action is to be considered.

But while so contending the Democratic leaders are much embarrassed by the president's position in favor of beginning the revision of the tariff by schedules. They go even farther than Mr. Taft in their denunciation of the wool schedule, and while preferring themselves to designate the way of its rewriting, they admit that they would find it difficult to resist an effort at reduction when-soever and by whomsoever it might be undertaken.

Federal Incorporation Act.

There is some sympathy among Democrats with the president's plan for a federal incorporation act and for the modification of the law relating to injunctions and trusts. All these questions are complicated, however, and the time is far distant when any one can say with assurance what may be the fate of the administration bills along the lines contemplated. Under the circumstances the chances are strongly against most of them.

Among the measures to be pressed are those providing for the fortification of the Panama canal, and this, it is conceded, will provoke controversy; the amendment of the postal laws so as to provide for a parcels post along rural delivery routes, and for increased postage on the advertising portions of magazines; the granting of ship subsidies; the pensions of superannuated employees of the civil service; the creation of a public land court and the establishment of forest reservations in the White mountains in the north and in the Appalachians in the south.

Opposition to the naval program for the annual addition of two battleships to the navy may be expected, but it probably will not be effective in the approaching session.

Reapportion the House.

The forest reservation bill occupies a favorable position and probably will become a law. It passed the house and a day for a vote on it by the senate has been fixed.

The ship subsidies bill is the unfinished business in the senate, but some of the Democrats say even now that any effort to pass it would result in an extra session. They are ready to talk it to death. This bill is also expected to be presented to the house for a vote during the session, and its chances there are doubtful. The measure has once passed the house and been once defeated by that body, the majority being small in both instances. There are enough Republicans to pass the bill if they can be prevailed upon to accept it as a party measure. Many of the interior Republicans are, however, as strenuously opposed to the measure as are the most pronounced Democrats and in case of a vote the result would be determined by the doubtful element. The present congress will be asked to provide for a reapportionment of the house of representatives to conform to the developments of the thirteenth census, and any measure with that end in view is liable to become the subject of sharp controversy. Actually there is not much chance for party advantage in the reapportionment, but it always is assumed that there is, and the Democrats will contend for the postponement of the legislation until the beginning of the Sixty-second congress.

Status of Insurgency.

It is not expected now that the monetary commission will report during the approaching session, but there is some pressure on it to do so. If a report should be made and an effort undertaken to enact any new law affecting the currency, it would lead to prolonged debate and probably failure owing to the limited time left for no other reason, any suggestion of a central bank at this time would be bitterly antagonized.

Many members are speculating as to the status of insurgent Republicans during the short session. There is a noticeable change in the attitude of the stalwarts toward this faction of the party. Generally there seems to be a tendency toward accepting the result at the polls as an expression of sentiment in the direction of progressive action, although some of the defeated members of the old guard combat this idea and attribute the overturn of the Republican house to a "landslide," with the variety of meanings attached to that expression.

News of Theatres

AT THE KENTUCKY.

Last half of week—"Yankee Doodle Stock Company" in repertoire. Monday—Frank McIntyre in "The Traveling Salesman." Star—Family vaudeville. Gem—Moving pictures.

Two shows each evening with vaudeville stunts between acts, is the novel proposition of "The Yankee Doodle Stock Company," which will be seen at the Kentucky theater the last half of the present week. The bill is: Thursday night, "Only a Farmer's Daughter" and "Yankee Doodle Girl"; Friday night, "In a Woman's Power" and "Charley's Aunt"; Saturday night, "Moonshiners' Daughter" and "Whose Baby Are You?" The Vaudeville people are Clyde Long, Ruby Berger, Babe Russell and Curson Sisters. The company is playing at Harrisburg, Ill., the first half of the week.

Frank McIntyre.

Frank McIntyre, who originated the title role in James Forbes' "Traveling Salesman," and Gertrude Coghlan, his leading woman, who is best known through her work as star in her father's romantic drama, "The Royal Box," supported by the original cast of "The Traveling Salesman," are headed this way and will be seen at the Kentucky Monday night, December 5. The company, which made a big hit at Louisville and in St. Louis plays Terre Haute, Ind., tonight, Evansville Wednesday night, Lexington Thursday night and Nashville Friday and Saturday nights. Expressions from the press of these cities will be published by The Evening Sun for the benefit of theater patrons.

During the recent engagement at Louisville the Times said: "The Traveling Salesman" has demonstrated its ability to "come back," and a crowded house hailed with delight the return of the comedy at Macaulay's last night. The audience was royally entertained, and royally manifested its approval by frequent encores, finally becoming so insistent that Frank McIntyre, "The Traveling Salesman," was forced to make a curtain speech.

The story is too well known to need repeating. The traveling salesman, with a sweetheart in every town finally becomes really smitten with Beth Elliott, a simple country girl, who is telegraph operator and station agent at Grand Crossing, 50 miles from nowhere. She has a tract of ground that is to be sold for taxes, and does not realize that the railroad needs the land for a prospective spur. Of course the designing villain is present, and contemplates buying the land in, but the traveling salesman gets him into a poker game, eases several drinks under his belt and leaves him in a drunken stupor while he goes to pay the taxes and save the land for the girl who has won his heart. He is misunderstood, the girl believing that he has deliberately deceived a d tried to swindle her. Everything comes out all right in the end, and the curtain goes down with the salesman telephoning for a minister and two witnesses. The play is replete with mappy dialogue and comical situations, and the company is well balanced. Frank McIntyre disproves the contention that "nobody loves a fat man," for Beth Elliott personated in charming fashion by Gertrude Coghlan as well as the audience, are captured by the genial knight of the grip.

High School Minstrel.

The first rehearsal for the annual minstrel was held yesterday afternoon by the High school students. Several of the solos and songs were practiced yesterday afternoon under the direction of Miss Adah Brazleton, who is in charge of the music arrangements. The date for the minstrel has not been set, but it will be given about Christmas. In the language of the press agent the High school minstrel this year will be "bigger and better than ever before." The boys have a reputation for putting on a classy show, and this year previous efforts will be eclipsed. There are several good soloists among the students, and the musical part of the show will be high class. Several alumni of the school probably will be secured to assist in the success of the show.

Paducah's library is popular and the public demands an increased appropriation for it in the future.

"THE STREET OF THE QUICK ANSWER."

Irvin Cobb's article on "The Street of the Quick Answer" in the Sunday Magazine of the Record-Herald reminds us of some observations on Broadway answers published a year or more ago over the signature of F. Hopkinson Smith. Mr. Cobb declares that if a person passes the time of day or state of the weather on Broadway, nine times out of ten he will receive a witty answer. Mr. Smith says that New York is the only city in the world, where one can't get a civil answer to a civil question.

Mr. Cobb's article, however, deals with repartee of famous "Broadway" characters, principally actors. It might be illuminating if someone with Irvin Cobb's perceptive acuteness would draw some real Broadway types, as the London cabbie has been made to serve the purpose of English humor. The dry wit of the London cabbie is classical, not even Townsend's Bovey Boy comparing with him in the flavor of his philosophy. Yet the "keb, sir" of the London type is politeness itself, and no filopant disregard of common courtesy, or "smart-aleck" manner of retort is forced to serve as a substitute for real wit—at least, it is so in literature. The London cabbie may be less ideal in his own proper person.

THE HOUSE OF GOVERNORS.

While popular interest will naturally center in the personalities of the distinguished gentlemen, who are guests of the state of Kentucky this week, the significance of this meeting should not be lost on us. It was Theodore Roosevelt, author of the New Nationalism, who invited the governors' conference at the white house, where the House of Governors was organized.

In this age, when the people are turning to the federal government and demanding protection against encroachments on their rights, development and conservation of resources, restrictions on public service corporations, regulation of the issuance of stocks by industrial and transportation corporations for the protection of investors, improvements of natural high ways, guarding of the public health by sanitary measures and labor laws, it is well to look to the states and see what they are doing; for the founders of the republic were particular to reserve to the states certain rights and to limit the jurisdiction of the federal government to those things necessary for the maintenance of the independence of the United States. Because the nation is larger and the interests of all its constituents more diversified, national affairs are less susceptible to prejudiced action and selfishly corrupt practices. There are too many eyes looking on from diverse points of view. Consequently, it was natural that the first cry for conservation, regulation, restrictions, protection, health measures and development of means of communication should be heard by the nation. But that is not the end; the states have a duty to perform to their citizens, if the states would retain their integrity and local independence. These reforms we must have and will have, whether they come through cooperation of the state and nation, or through an extension of the national jurisdiction.

We prefer the former.

Most of the forest, mineral and oil lands are in the hands of the states. The improvement of public highways certainly lies within the province of the states; the draining of swamps and irrigation of desert lands, belonging to the states, are not national projects in any practical sense. Laws of divorce are state, not national; and their uniformity and the uniformity of many other laws are desirable to escape what has become a national scandal. The correction of corporate abuses, the popular primary, initiative and referendum and recall, municipal charters, protection of labor and public health, and nearly every public question that touches the people in their daily lives are questions, which lie within the province of the states.

Kentucky's governor has taken an active interest in the House of Governors, as demonstrated by his success in securing the first meeting in Kentucky. Judson Harmon, Woodrow Wilson, Governors Hadley, of Missouri, and Deneen, of Illinois, and a score of other more or less imposing political figures are to be seen today at Frankfort. These men are seriously considering the duties of the states. Heretofore the states have been centers of political graft and corruption, and the character of men, who have occupied the state houses of the American commonwealths, have not been comparable to the character of men, who have directed the affairs of our banks and public service corporations, either in intellect or probity, taking them by and large.

Kentucky, then, has a further interest in the same question. A governor is to be elected next year. Not one of the men actively in the field for the office has expressed himself on the questions of the day in so much as to give us even a hint that he has ever seriously thought of anything beyond getting the nomination and the office, or has any opinion to express in regard to the dominant issues in American civic life.

On the character, fitness and ability of the chief executive of a state, providing he is in political sympathy with the legislature, depend the success of a legislative session, from the view point of public interests.

What kind of a governor will Kentucky choose after the House of Governors has set us to thinking on the subject?

STATE PRESS.

Approves Farley's Selection.

To be a member of the present state administration is proving an asset, to some of them at least. Auditor Frank P. James was chosen president of the Henry Clay Insurance company at $5,000 a year and now Captain Ed Farley, state treasurer, is made president of the Bank of Kentucky in Lexington, with possibly more salary than Mr. James. The old captain is as honorable and as straight as a string, and the choice is an excellent one.—Lexington Herald.

Lexington Wants Capt. Farley.

Captain Edwin Farley, state treasurer, has been elected president of the Bank of Kentucky, of Lexington, to succeed Dr. John C. Willis, who has resigned. He will give personal attention to the affairs of the bank, coming over from Frankfort every day or two to meet with the directors and committees. Captain Farley's local associates hope that at the expiration of his term as treasurer of the state of Kentucky, one year hence, he will locate in Lexington and devote himself to the bank and other business undertakings along the lines in which he has had long experience. When asked by the leader what his future plans were, he laughingly said that Paducah, his old home, was a mighty fine city, that he had considerable interests there, and that he did not like to sever old ties, but he failed to say he would not come to Lexington, and his friends are very hopeful that he will locate here and become actively identified with local financial and business interests.

Captain Farley will be heartily welcomed to Lexington's financial and business circles, and it is hoped that he may decide to locate here when he retires from the office of state treasurer at the close of next year. He is one of the most capable and popular men who ever held the office of treasurer of Kentucky, and one of the strongest officials in Governor Willson's administration. He has been long identified with the banking interests of Paducah, having been one of the founders and for over 20 years a director of the Citizens' Savings bank, one of the most prosperous financial institutions of that thrifty city.

The Bank of Kentucky has already built up a good business, and under the presidency of such an able financier as Captain Farley it is bound to gain in prestige and usefulness.—Lexington Leader.

MAY SHAVE MORE CLOSELY.

Many Men Would Not Do Without Poslam, Which Soothes and Heals.

While the application of poslam, the new skin remedy, after shaving is one of its minor uses, such as for pimples, the complexion, etc., shavers have found it a revelation, as it does for abrasions, roughness and severe scrapings what it does in all manner of skin difficulties—heals and cures in a few hours. Poslam's great antiseptic and curative value enables it to tone up the skin as no toilet preparation possibly could. Any infection, such as barbers' itch is quickly cured, for poslam's primary work is the rapid healing of such serious skin diseases as eczema, acne, tetter, salt rheum, etc. "Poslam is the best and quickest cure that I have seen in my 25 years' experience in the barber business," says Frank J. Kammerer, Racine, Wis.

A sample of poslam (mailed free) will tell the whole story. Write for it to the Emergency Laboratories, 32 West Twenty-fifth street, New York City. Poslam is sold in two sizes (trial, 50 cents; regular jars $2) by all druggists, particularly Gilbert's and R. W. Walker & Co.

GREAT RAILROAD TERMINAL TO OPEN WITHOUT CEREMONY

$100,000,000 Station of the Pennsylvania Lines to be Inaugurated in a Quiet and Unostentatious Manner.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 28.—On the morning of Nov. 27 a train drawn by a mighty electric locomotive will burrow under the Hudson River over to the New York side and dash into the greatest building the world has ever seen.

The run of that train will become an epic in the eventful history of railroading, as it will mark the formal opening of the new $100,000,000 terminal of the Pennsylvania lines in the very heart of Greater New York.

Some thoughts are too big for words—just so is the opening of this wonderful building too big for any ceremony.

When a man feels the most he says nothing. The Pennsylvania Lines' officials rightly feel that they have done the biggest thing in the marvelous and bewildering history of American railroading and for that reason they remain silent and let their great achievement speak for itself.

The greatest ceremonial pageant that man could devise would be dwarfed into insignificance by the massive, yet simple, grandeur of the new structure.

For years an army of men have toiled above and beneath earth and water to accomplish the greatest building and engineering achievement the world has ever seen. Millions and millions of dollars' worth of material, work and brains have been poured into the great crucible of endeavor, and the finished product has no equal on this earth.

This is probably the first instance in history where the men back of a great enterprise have had sufficient faith in it to let it speak for itself.

The Pennsylvania Lines has just cause to be proud of its New York terminal. It is the greatest thing of its kind the world has ever known.

Surely it needs no inadequate pyrotechnics or giegaws to introduce it to the public.

The ceremonies will be forgotten in a few days, but the massive terminal will stand in its enduring but simple grandeur as the years roll by as the highest pinnacle of achievement in railroad history. (370)

CRUSHED TO DEATH BENEATH A TRAIN

BODY OF JAMES STEWART, OF LOUISVILLE, FOUND.

Supposed to Be On His Way to the Union Station When He Was Killed.

BODY WILL BE TAKEN BACK.

With his head crushed to a pulp, James Stuart, about 50 years old, a carpenter from Louisville, was found on the crossing of Caldwell street with the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis tracks just north of the Union station last night about 6 o'clock. The body was identified by the clothing and a small note book which contained his name and address.

Nobody saw the accident, but it is presumed that he was trying to climb over a string of cars that was standing across the street, when he was thrown to the track and his body caught. The lifeless body was discovered by Boone Ragland, a street car conductor on the Union station car line, who dismounted from his car to flag the crossing. Stuart's body was still warm, and he had been dead only a few minutes when it was discovered.

In falling Stuart probably made a fight for his life, as he was dragged several feet. The wheels first passed over his left shoulder, and the shoulder joint was badly torn. The wheels passed over his left chest, and then struck his face, crushing it into a shapeless pulp and scattering his brains along the street. Coroner Robert L. Eley was notified and had the body removed last night to the morgue of Nance & Rogers.

When found Stuart wore a pair of corduroy trousers, a black coat and a Tyrolean hat. In his pockets was found a small note book, bearing the advertisement of a patent medicine, and containing the name of Jim Stuart, Louisville, 3023 Greenwood avenue. In his pockets was also a rule, pencil, key, pocket knife and an empty purse.

The body was identified by W. B. Johnson, agent of the Falls City Construction company. Stuart had been working as a carpenter on the office building of the City National bank for about five months. On November 10 he quit work. To some of his friends he announced that he would return to Louisville, and it is believed that he was en route to the Illinois Central station to catch a train when the accident caused his death. The crew of the switch engine, that was switching cars, knew nothing of the accident until the body was found by Ragland. Little is known about Stuart in Paducah. He is said to have two sisters in Louisville.

ville. Messrs. Nance & Rogers received a telegram today from Ken- neth, undertakers at 1221 West Madison street, Louisville, that somebody would arrive in Paducah at 6:10 o'clock tonight to take the body back to Louisville.

Coroner's Verdict.

The following verdict was found this morning by Coroner R. L. Eley's jury, after holding an inquest over the remains at Nance & Rogers' undertaking establishment: We, the jury, find that the body before us is that of Jim Stuart, of Louisville, Kentucky, and that he came to his death by being run over by an N. C. & St. L. train at the crossing of Caldwell avenue and the said railroad in the city of Paducah, Kentucky, on November 28, 1910.

(Signed) A. J. RAMBERG, "JOHN B. HALL, "H. M. DALAON, "SAM G. GIVENS, "H. BIEDERMAN, "JOHN ROCK."

The inquest was held at 9 o'clock and developed the fact that Stuart was trying to catch a train when he met his fate. Not until he was removed to the morgue could he be identified.

WELLBORN WOMAN SAVED FROM DEATH

Mrs. Scott Tells About Her Experience, and Expresses Thanks in a Few Well-Chosen Words.

Wellborn, Tex.—"Words cannot describe my gratitude," says Mrs. M. Scott, of this place, "for Cardui. It is the finest medicine ever discovered. I suffered with womanly pains more than one ever could. I was fully convinced that I would die, and I had almost given up to hopeless despair. At last, I took Cardui, according to the directions, and the lump in my side has entirely disappeared, after several physicians had said I could never recover without a surgical operation. I am now a well woman and do all my own work. Cardui saved my life, and I can't say enough in its favor. It is the finest medicine ever discovered. I will praise it as long as I live."

They are just installing most modern equipped machinery in order to turn out the high grade of work which their trade now commands.

Mr. M. H. Danaher, who is connected with the company, has charge of the mechanical department and has been in the printing business for years. Mr. Danaher is well acquainted with every branch of the business and a more competent man cannot be found in the country. He is also secretary of the Central Labor Union and is most popular with all the boys.

Recognizing The Union.

The recognition of the union is nothing more nor less than the recognition of the principle for which trade unionism stands, the right to bargain collectively and to insist upon a common standard as a minimum. Workingmen have a nominal, but not a real freedom of contract, if they are prevented from contracting collectively instead of individually. The welfare of the working classes, as that of society, depends upon the recognition of this principle of the right of employees to contract collectively. An employer, be he ever so well-meaning, stands in the way of future progress if he insists upon dealing with his workmen "as individuals." While in his establishment wages may not by this means be reduced, owing to the fact that other establishments are organized, still the principle for which he stands, if universally adopted, would mean the degradation and impoverishment of the working classes. There are many employers who surrender the principle of the individual bargain without accepting the principle of the collective bargain. These employers state that they do not insist upon dealing with their employees as individuals, but that they must retain the right of dealing with "their own employees solely," and that they must not be forced to permit a man who is not their own employee to interfere in their business. The right to bargain collectively, however, or to take any other concerted action, necessarily involves the right to representation. Experience and reason both show that a man, even if otherwise qualified, who is dependent upon the good will of an employer, is in no position to negotiate with him, since an insistence upon what he considers to be the rights of the men represented by him may mean his dismissal or, at all events, the loss of the favor of his employer. Not only should workingmen have the right of contracting collectively, but they should also have the right of being represented by whomsoever they wish. The denial of the right of representation is tyranny. Without the right to choose their representative, the men cannot enjoy the full benefit of collective bargaining; and without the right of collective bargaining, the door is opened to the individual contract and to the progressive debasement of the working classes, and to the deterioration of conditions of work to the level of conditions in the sweated and unregulated trades. To avoid this calamity and to raise the working classes to a high state of efficiency and a high standard of citizenship, the organized workingmen demand and insist upon "the recognition of the union."

As to what progress the working classes have made in the last decade in this direction, and as to whether contracting collectively has been of benefit to them, it is only necessary to examine statistics. The star of hope still burns in the breast of every toiler in the land who loves home and good citizenship, that the day is not far distant when he will cease to be looked upon as a menace to society, but instead the foundation of all that means the betterment of humanity. If trade unionism had rendered no other service to humanity, it would have justified its existence by its efforts in behalf of working women and children. To further this grand work it is very necessary that we ever insist upon the "Recognition of the Union."

MOST IMPORTANT FACTOR OF WEEK

ARGENTINE WEATHER SWAYS WHEAT MARKET.

Rumors of Drouth Cause Advance of Prices—Slump Caused by Reports.

SUPPLIES ARE ENORMOUS.

Chicago, Nov. 29.—The condition of the weather in Argentina has been the chief factor in the wheat market during the past week. During the early part of the week reports from the South American country indicated that drouth was causing a serious injury to the wheat and prices here advanced sharply. Later, however, reports that the drouth had been broken in the affected districts reached the trade in large numbers and prices slumped off to about the level of the previous week's close.

The losses in Argentina were generally considered to be important enough to materially reduce the quantity available for export, but the loss would hardly be felt in the markets of the world unless the shortage of foodstuffs other than wheat made the wheat consumption phenomenally large in Europe. This situation was feared by a few in the trade, but not seriously considered by the trade at large. Supplies of wheat available in Europe are now so enormous that a shortage in Argentina would be felt very little. Argentine exports are usually made mostly during the first half of the year, after which they are invariably light. The shipments since July this year have shown the largest percentage of the previous crop ever recorded.

There was a great deal of covering of short wheat here at one time during the week because of the Argentine crop damage reports. The buying enthusiasm, however, was not nearly as marked as that which followed the destruction of much of the wheat crop in North Dakota several weeks ago. The buying at that time was considerably overdone and the trade has since felt the effect of the reaction from it. One of the echoes of the North Dakota excitement is contained in the following from a publication devoted to milling interests: "Reports from North Dakota indicate that a large number of flour buyers loaded up with flour in July, and that now, with the decline in price, they feel rather gloomy. When they bought flour the crop situation looked very bad and the wheat market was booming. The effect is to make trade dull with northern mills."

The reports of the breaking of the drouth in Argentina did not reach the trade here until Friday. Cables then told of good rains in all the districts affected, and with a sharp drop in Liverpool, prices here took a sharp decline.

Speculative Interest Small. The caution shown by sellers during the week was but the natural thing to expect with the important South American producer on the eve of harvest in her most important wheat areas. It is rare that a wheat crop in any part of the world is not killed a few times by speculators before it is harvested, but it almost invariably follows that the merchandising problems come along in due course after harvest. The Argentine harvest probably will be no exception. It has about 1,900,000 larger acreage to make up its losses from, and even a most moderate per acre yield would have a big surplus for export. Australia, with a large area, should be brought into the arena by the crop tilters to make the campaign a really good one.

Speculative Interest in wheat has been small for months and promises to remain so until something tangible and of enough importance to claim the public attention develops. Even with much development there would be no real cause for anxiety on the part of the consumer. Supplies of wheat and flour in trade channels the world over are enormous, and there is nothing to warrant the consumer hanging from his position of buying to supply immediate needs only. With merchandising on only the normal consuming basis it will be a low task to materially deplete available supplies.

On Monday wheat made a rather disappointing showing and closed weak following an early advance. There was the same lack of enthusiasm as heretofore, with no increase in the amount of business current. Higher markets in Europe and unfavorable reports from Argentina were the main causes for strength early in the session, while depressing statistics and slim cash and speculative demand caused weakness later. There was a suspicion in the trade finally that long wheat was being fed into the market on the hard spots. It was certain some of the larger local bears were scalping on a liberal scale from the short side. This helped to check the advances, but also steadied the market on the declines. A number of large room traders, who have been working for higher prices, were working cautiously on the selling side. These bulls had been making a stubborn fight for nearly three weeks, but it became apparent to them that they were losing ground. Opposition became more powerful and import with each advance over the gain that was made in December wheat two weeks ago.

Argentine news was more of a factor in wheat Tuesday than on the day before. It was made the basis for fairly important buying, with the result that prices scored good gains for the day. The Lichstein-Armour forces bought wheat heavily during the early morning after the market had suffered quite a reaction following a higher opening. Shorts were in a general stampede at the last and were bidding good prices to get under cover.

Early Selling Overdone. The early selling had been very much overdone, and shorts had been Argentine cables had also somewhat worn off. Dry weather continued in the southwest, but was not much of a factor in the wheat market. The trade, however, was a little interested in the buying of wheat futures here by a few Europeans. Except for an advance at Buda Pest the European markets were not much stirred by the Argentine news.

Although the trade in wheat on Wednesday was larger and more important than for any day in the last week or ten days, and the range of prices fairly wide, there was little emboldened. The effort of the early net change at the close. Disappointing European cables and reports that rain was threatened in Argentina made a weak market at the outset. Short selling was overdone on this decline, the buying by longs was prompt and important, and the bears soon found a tight and advancing market. Later cables made a much poorer showing for Argentina. This made shorts uneasy and finally stamped a number of them into covering. There was evidently a plentiful supply of wheat on the hard spots, as the market reached from time to time. Nevertheless, the high points of the week were touched before the advance was halted. The Armour and Lichstein houses were the largest of the early buyers, and it was the proper impression in the pit that they were also supplying the bulk of the offerings on the subsequent rallies.

Tone of Market Heavy. On Friday the tone of the market was heavy throughout, considerable wheat being on sale on all of the little swells, and constant support was needed. European markets were all lower, rains having fallen in Argentina. The cables indicated that the rainfall was general throughout Argentina, and the latest cables received from there said the drouth was broken.

May wheat at the end of the week was 1/4 cent above the close of the previous week and July was 1/2 cent higher. December was unchanged.

Corn, which had shown some weakness early, turned strong later in the week and scored slight gains. Speculators were puzzled because of the persistent buying by the Armour Grain company. Quite a number of the shorts were convinced that a campaign against the shorts similar to that recently run in wheat was under way, and they decided it was the better part of valor to make an escape.

Large Short Interest. There is a large outstanding short interest in corn which, despite the long continued and important recent decline, has not made a great deal of money. In addition to this there is a big short interest that has immense profits on short corn which it will be a difficult matter to dislodge. It was the popular impression that J. A. Patten and several big traders have big lines of short corn in the market on which there is an average profit of over 12 cents per bushel. All of these are believers in still lower ultimate prices for corn and would probably welcome a moderate advance in order to increase their short sales.

Oats prices held their own all week. In addition to considerable covering by shorts there was a marked improvement in the demand for cash grain from local distributors and ship ports.

Provisions took quite a severe slump last week. Some of the important holders of January provisions, particularly pork and ribs, were abandoning their positions and dumping their property on the market. The limited demand for cash meats has started a number of the packers manufacturing product to fill speculative contract specifications. The packers were, of course, the first to discover this, and the Cudahy Packing company was leading the selling forces late in the week.

Parsons, Battle Creek, Mich., illustrates: "I have been afflicted with a severe case of kidney and bladder trouble for which I found no relief until I used Foley Kidney Pills. These cured me entirely of all my ailments. I was troubled with backaches and severe shooting pains with annoying urinary irregularities. The steady use of Foley Kidney Pills rid me entirely of all my former troubles. They have my highest recommendation."—Gilbert's drug store.
